Changes Planned for Offices of Registrar, Placement Services, and Graduate Affairs

Sr. M. Camille Kliebhan has announced three major administrative changes — effective this fall. The first is the appointment of Sr. Francis Marie DeLany as registrar of the College. The second is the establishment of a new Office of Career and Placement Services, headed by Sr. Agnes Clare Beyer who has served as registrar since 1972. The third represents a reorganization of graduate affairs.

Sister Francis Marie served as assistant to the registrar during the 1974-75 school year. She holds a Master's degree from Marquette University.

Graduate Office Organized

An Office of Graduate Affairs is being established to handle matters formerly coordinated by Sister Camille when she was academic vice president.

Under the new arrangement, (a) the academic dean, Sr. Barbara Marie Weithaus will be responsible for administration of all graduate degree programs — as well as all other academic offerings; (b) Sister Barbara Marie will also serve as Chairperson of the Committee on Graduate Studies; and (c) Sr. Agnes Clare Beyer will process admissions to the Graduate Division and otherwise assist the academic dean in the coordination of graduate affairs.

Summer Enrollments Reported by Director

Preliminary summer school registrations for regular and special courses in the Undergraduate and Graduate Divisions total 700, according to Sr. Barbara Marie Weithaus, summer session director.

Additional enrollments are expected for short-term workshops in July.

The 1975 summer program is again being conducted on Stritch's campus and at St. Coletta School, Jefferson.

New Members Elected To Board of Directors

Four new members have been elected to a three-year term on Stritch's Board of Directors. They include a professional educator, an alumna, a community leader, and a representative of the O.S.F. Congregation.

The new directors are: Mr. Oliver Heine, superintendent of the Glendale-River Hills school district; Mrs. Monica Kritch Ceille, '64, who earned her B.A. degree in home economics; Mrs. Grace Theilacker Millen, mother of eight and member of various civic groups; and Sr. M. Immaculate Kienzle, O.S.F., an associate director of the Sisters of St. Francis of Assisi.

The four replace Mr. Robert Moser, Mrs. Eileen Hayes Conklin, Mr. Peter McBride, and Sr. Doris Pehowski, O.S.F. — all charter members.

Analysis of '75 Class Reveals Information About Graduates' Geographic Distribution

A comprehensive analysis of Stritch's 1975 graduating class — made by Sr. Mary Aquin Miller, director of institutional research — provides interesting facts about the 114 undergraduates and 100 graduate students concerned.

The academic degrees were distributed as follows: Associate of Arts — 34; Bachelor of Arts — 73; Bachelor of Fine Arts — 5; Bachelor of Music — 2; Master of Arts with specialization in Mental Retardation — 15; M.A., Learning Disabilities — 19; and M.A., Reading — 66.

Of those who earned undergraduate degrees (Associate and Bachelor), 98, or 86%, were Wisconsin residents and 16, or 14%, were from out-of-state. Among the men and women who received the Master of Arts degree, 64, or 64%, were from Wisconsin and 36, or 36%, were out-of-state residents.

Thus, out of the total 1975 Class, 162, or 75.7%, were from Wisconsin and 52, or 24.3%, were out-of-state residents. Graduates from Wisconsin represented 52 different communities — with 50 students from the City of Milwaukee.

Other States Represented

The 1975 Class had members from 19 different states — other than Wisconsin — and from Guam. These states ranged from Alabama to West Virginia, with larger numbers from Illinois (15) and Ohio (6), in particular.

Points on the compass show that home towns of this year's Stritch graduates extend from Rutland, Vt., to Tampa, Fla., on the east . . . and from Seattle, Wash., to San Diego, Cal., on the west.

Society Honors Two at Annual Gathering

Pat Kleiman, WITI-TV reporter, and Gordon Jensen, of the Milwaukee Public Schools, were honored by the Wisconsin Society for Brain-Injured Children at the group's 1975 Awards Dinner and Annual Meeting, held in Serra Hall on Tues., June 10.

Program Features Speaker

Mr. Alan Marcuvitz, attorney at law, was the principal speaker. His topic was "Legal Advocacy on Behalf of the Child with Exceptional Needs — An Overview."

Sr. Joanne Marie Kliebhan, director of the St. Francis Children's Activity and Achievement Center, reported program progress made during 1974-75, the first year of operation in the new facility on Stritch's campus.

From Our President

I want to begin this column by wishing all our readers a "happy summer." Whatever your vacation plans may be, let's hope they come true . . . and you are able to enjoy some rest and relaxation during the weeks ahead.

One of my pleasures during June and July will be found in teaching our graduate courses in "Statistics" and "Educational Research," as a part of the 1975 Summer Session. Thus far, I have been able to keep my inaugural pledge to be a teaching President . . . and I like that.

My point in mentioning the teaching duties carried throughout the year is not to report here on my stewardship, but to emphasize the Stritch spirit of "small enough to care and strong enough to count." All members of the faculty and staff attempt to know our students as individual persons and friends.

We want each man and woman on campus to feel that he or she truly belongs to the larger College community.

Hence, the teaching of two required courses puts me in direct contact with students in our Master's programs. My daily office schedule and residence in Clare Hall provide ample opportunities for me to mix and mingle with our undergraduates.

Likewise, a policy of openness and availability keeps a President "in touch" with nearly everything — ranging from students' financial woes to their wedding plans and from academic difficulties to career decisions. But, that is why my associates and I are here . . . at this place, at this time.

Again, a "happy summer" to you.

Sister Camille

Judaism Lectureship Awarded to College

Cardinal Stritch College has been awarded a resident lectureship on Judaism for the 1975-76 academic year by the Jewish Chautauqua Society, a service of the National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods.

Plans call for Rabbi F. Barry Silberg, of Congregation Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun, to teach a course in Jewish studies on campus next spring.

The general aim of the lectureship program is to increase non-Jewish students' knowledge and understanding of Judaism and its contribution to history and culture.

Curriculum Changes Slated at All Levels

Three major curriculum changes are being put into effect in Stritch's Associate, Bachelor, and Master's degree programs, respectively, according to Sr. Barbara Marie, academic dean.

In the Associate of Arts program, one field of specialization has been expanded from Mental Retardation to Special Education—to comprehend more areas of exceptionality in education.

Among academic majors for the baccalaureate degree, Communication Arts has been added—to bring the number of choices for concentration to 15—through combined offerings in English, speech, and theatre arts.

In the Graduate Division, the College has received approval from Wisconsin's State Department of Public Instruction for a degree program leading to a Master of Arts in Special Education—Learning Disabilities, Secondary Level.

Stritch Inaugurates Male Housing Plan

Beginning in fall, 1975, Cardinal Stritch College will make residential accommodations in Clare Hall available to male students for the following reasons: (1) to meet the housing needs of men from outside metropolitan Milwaukee who find it difficult to locate living quarters convenient to the campus; (2) to conform with Federal Laws (Title IX) that require equal treatment and equal educational opportunity for both sexes within a coeducational institution; and (3) to increase the occupancy rate of the College's dormitory facilities—which have been only about two-thirds' filled since the late 1960's.

Committee Recommends Change

After careful study, an Ad Hoc Committee of faculty and administrative staff members concluded that male housing should be provided on campus. The group explored such other possible options as off-campus rentals, off-campus purchase of housing, rental of other institutional residence facilities, construction of a new residence hall by Stritch, and construction of apartment units by a private developer on a leased portion of the College's land.

The Male Housing Committee's thorough analysis of hard data and current financial constraints resulted in the following recommendations to the Administrative Board: (a) open Clare Residence Hall to male students; (b) reserve the west wing of the first floor (25 rooms) accordingly; (c) provide for a male assistant to the residence hall director; (d) reserve the first floor-west lounge for male residents; and (e) allow direct access to such male living quarters off of Clare Hall lobby.

Further investigations indicated that local zoning codes will allow such arrangements and no major physical plant improvements will be required with respect to lavatories, living space, or internal security. Therefore—after consultation with the dean of students, the residence hall director, and the Business Office—the Administrative Board approved the Ad Hoc Committee's proposals and submitted them to Stritch's Board of Directors.

Board Takes Action

The College's governing board, in turn, approved the administration's recommendations and specified that "fees for room and board (both the 5-day and 7-day meal plans) should be kept comparable and equal for all undergraduate and graduate resident students, regardless of sex and dependent only upon services rendered."

Mr. Robert F. McGinn

More Grads Support College Annual Fund

As of June 1st, the current Stritch Annual Fund campaign had raised $52,517, or 47.8 percent more than last year's amount of $35,527. The number of donors increased from 526 to 813, for a gain of 54.6 percent over-all.

The College received contributions from more alumni, parents, and friends — than ever before — but slightly fewer "Business Partners."

Special Mailing Helps

In response to a regular mailing and to the Alumni Association's special appeal through Stritch class agents, the number of CSC graduates who have given this year is 87.1 percent higher than last year, or 520 as compared with 278.

Of the Associate and Bachelor degree graduates contacted, 27.5 percent sent a contribution; among M.A. graduates, 15.4 percent responded.

Business Officer Aims to Serve

"Business can be as 'people-oriented' as you want it to be," says Sr. Dolores Linski, the College's business officer and treasurer. Indeed, this enthusiastic person-orientation seems to have been the focal point of Sister Dolores' service at Stritch since 1957.

Currently, Sister's challenging job includes coordinating the services of the bookstore, residence hall, food service, business office, post office, and secretarial staff. She also prepares and administers the College's budget and investments, and supervises the accounting and insurance programs.

As one of the College corporation's four officers, Sister Dolores works with other members of the administration in planning sessions. She values this opportunity to participate in institution-wide planning because it allows her to learn about concerns in academic areas and student affairs in order to help the supporting services meet the College community's needs.

Sister Dolores finds her work at Stritch a stimulating ministry. "No two days are ever alike." It affords both an intellectual and a personal challenge.

Summer Art Show

"Spectacular" is the word for Stritch's 1975 Summer Art Show — on exhibit in Studio San Damiano daily from 9:00 to 5:00 through early September. It is open to the public without charge.

As an integrated person, Sister feels she brings to her work "professional competencies, values, and attitudes which must permeate my relationships with those I serve. I feel I am constantly challenged to live those values I meditate on." God's providence also plays a key role in Sister Dolores' service. "The Lord does provide. He gives you people and intelligence to solve your problems . . . just search for the answers."

Also, Sister feels that her ministry — far from limiting her to facts and figures — draws her closer to people. In her position, Sister Dolores works directly with the people she serves: students, faculty, and staff. She enjoys sharing her ideas and values with these persons.

Stresses Community Spirit

Sister Dolores' person-centeredness extends to her religious community as well. As she says, "Each day I realize how fortunate we are to have one another in community . . . No matter what difficulties or joys you are experiencing, there is always someone with whom to share, if you go out to others."

Finally, Sister Dolores believes her position at Stritch centers on helping finances to support the College's goals and to meet its needs. As business officer, Sister Dolores finds herself in-involved in almost all aspects of college life. This involvement obviously pleases her, for as she firmly states, "Finance cannot exist in a vacuum or it loses its service dimension."
